

Dear colleagues,

It is our great pleasure to invite you to the 2nd edition of the International Week @ FMTU, which will be held from 25 to 29 May 2026 at the Faculty of Tourism and Hospitality Management, University of Rijeka, in the beautiful coastal town of Opatija, Croatia.

This year's International Week is organized in association with the 28th International Congress "Tourism and Hospitality Industry 2026: Trends and Challenges," offering all participants a unique opportunity to join an inspiring academic and professional environment.

The participation fee for the International Week is 150 EUR, covering the full programme, materials, organization, networking activities, and access to selected social events.

All registered participants of the International Week will have the possibility of complimentary access to the Congress, as well as special reduced fees should they wish to submit and present their research.

Throughout the week, you will have the chance to:

- engage in lectures, workshops, and discussions led by colleagues from partner universities across Europe
- exchange best practices in internationalisation, mobility, student support, research cooperation, and professional development
- participate in networking activities designed for both academic and non-academic staff
- experience the unique charm of Opatija, a renowned historical seaside destination known for its architecture, culture, and Mediterranean lifestyle

The International Week is an opportunity to strengthen existing partnerships, develop new Erasmus+ collaborations, and inspire each other with innovative approaches to teaching, administration, and international strategy. Above all, we want you to enjoy the atmosphere of our faculty, meet our vibrant community, and return home enriched with new ideas and connections.

To register your participation, please complete the short form available here:
